ISD POTPOURRI:

From the PRESCHOOL Department: Denise Hibbitt and Sue Stouffer classrooms are studying occupations and learning the duties of firemen, policemen, and doctors by role playing. This classroom work has been inspired by the children reading the story Curious George Takes A Job by H. A. Rey.

Sandy Hicks and Diane Jones classes have been reading the books Caps For Sale Using ASL to describe textures, sizes, colors, and balance. On Friday they are going to have a store to sell and purchase these items.

Nan Pfleging and Gretchen Speckman's Nursery School classes have been developing the sense of sight through manipulating and experimenting with a variety of visual materials. The 2 and 3 year olds love view masters, colored lanterns, cameras, flashlights, magnifying glasses and colored glasses. Fun!

The Cinderella's Ball was a success and well accepted by the children. Cinderella was Kortney Chew and there were various prince's. There is a video tape on this event.

From the ELEMENTARY Department: Linda Grogan's class has been working on problem solving in reading and comparing various cultures in social studies. Cindi McDonald's class has been studying foods for health, animal adaptation for science, multiplication for math and Indiana History - current events. They will also be working on the animal food chain.

Patti Murray's class has been learning about history by studying "great" people. Becki Philhower's class has been busy cutting soup labels to earn typewriters for the Elementary Department.

Elizabeth Foster's class recently wrote stories and can now read them to other people. Joyce Levy's science class have been learning about birds, their types of nests, and how they build them and the foods they eat. They have also been reading about the stages of human growth and development.

From the MIDDLE SCHOOL Department: Ed Castor will speak to students at 9:50 a.m. ISTEP testing this week.

From the HIGH SCHOOL Department: ISD competed once again in the American High School Mathematics Examination, which was held on Tuesday, February 27th. The academic team members were: Candus Penn, Mike Morris, Eric Farney, Josh Shaffner, Matt Dray, Aimee Bippus, Darrin Green, Scott Waters, Brian Stockard, Thad Morgan, Brian Tager (Alternate) and Rosa Gallimore (Alternate).

I the VOCATIONAL Department: The Sewing classes have completed a 79" by 93 tied, patch quilt. Proceeds from the sale of raffle tickets will be used for a new sewing machine.

DID YOU KNOW THAT? Laura Redden Searing (1840-1923) was a liberated deaf woman who wrote under the pen name of "Howard Glyndon." She graduated from the Missouri School for the Deaf and became a war correspondent during the Civil War where she saw men dying on the battlefields.

Laura interviewed President Lincoln and many Union generals with slate and chalk. One of her poems the "Belle Missouri" was set to music and became the popular war song of the Missouri Union Army. In 1985 one of the buildings on the Northwest Campus of Gallaudet University was dedicated and named in her honor.

As we are leaving the month of February in which we celebrated Lincoln's Birthday, I would also like to add that it was during the dark days of the Civil War that President Lincoln signed a charter authorizing the Columbia Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf in Washington, D.C., to grant college degrees to deaf persons. This charter resulted in the founding of National Deaf-Mute College, which was renamed Gallaudet College in 1884.
